Ensuring One25's work delivers our aims

One25 refers to the Charity Commission's general guidance on public benefit when reviewing our aims and objectives and planning future activities. In particular, the trustees consider how planned activities will contribute to our aims and objectives. Trustees look ahead and agree the strategic priorities. We seek feedback from all stakeholder groups, which in turn feeds into operational planning days where objectives are set to meet the strategic priorities. Senior members of staff review the business plan and operational plan monthly. Trustees receive update reports from senior members of staff at three monthly board meetings. This enables them to review the success of our key activities and the benefits they have brought to service users.

How our activities deliver public benefit

The trustees have given due consideration to Charity Commission published guidance on public benefit.

All of our charitable activities focus on the prevention or relief of poverty, specifically through working with women at risk of, or currently, street sex-working and women in recovery from sex work and addiction. One25 first makes contact with women trapped in street sex work through the night outreach service, through referrals from other agencies or through women who self-refer. Equal access to our services is important to us and we do our best to monitor those accessing the services according to the nine protected characteristics. All of our services are provided free to service users and include support relating to families and parenting, physical, mental and spiritual health, criminal justice, substance misuse, personal safety, housing, finance and life skills.

The impact of our work goes far beyond those we help directly and includes reducing distress to families and friends of our service users, as well as residents living in areas where street sex-working occurs. We influence priorities of commissioners and policy makers and share learning through open mornings and affiliation with national networks including Beyond the Streets, CLINKS and Women's Breakout. We promote best practice through specialist training and placements for trainee police and social workers. We promote the women's voices at local and national level in academic research, statutory consultations and through the media and other communication networks.

Last year 227 women benefitted from One25's services. Of these:

- 168 women were supported with health needs
- 137 women were supported around addiction
- 63 women received support for criminal justice issues
- 54 women took part in skill building and / or recreational activities at One25
- 120 women received support for issues relating to their safety
- 157 women received advice and support around finance and housing

Outreach

There were 1,016 visits to One25's van outreach services from 127 different women (average five women seen per shift). The outreach service continues to provide a safe space where women can access immediate and practical support during the late night hours when they are working on the streets. To increase accessibility we have introduced a Freephone telephone number for outreach, so that women can call us and arrange to meet. This has been very successful with 346 calls in ten months, including calls from women who were too shy to flag the van down and wanted to arrange to meet instead. In the last year Bristol Drugs Project have also supported the outreach service by providing harm reduction packs of clean needles and foil.

Drop-in

There were 2,049 visits from 117 different women to One25's drop-in centre at 138a Grosvenor Road (average ten women per session). Drop-in attendance was up 59% from February – May 2017 in comparison with the previous year, and on some days we have seen over 20 women. This has been challenging for the drop-in staff and volunteers.

The drop-in continues to provide a safe space where women can get support for any area of need. One25's drop-in coordinator and support worker assess each woman's need and refer her to appropriate support, including specialist caseworkers and a range of visiting professionals such as a GP, a sexual health nurse and an in-house prescribing service from Bristol Specialist Drug and Alcohol Service.

Casework

We have worked intensively with 172 women (76% of all beneficiaries) compared with 155 women (66%) in the previous year. These women have each received support from one or more of our specialist caseworkers. During the year One25's casework team included these specialist areas of expertise: drug treatment, housing and finance, mental health services, domestic and sexual violence, criminal justice system and complex needs.

Of the 172 women supported through casework:

- 39 women were supported to prevent them entering street sex work
 - 37 women exited street sex work for a period of 6 months or more
 - 63 women maintained their exit from street sex work for a period of 12 months or more
 - In addition, 65 women who had maintained their exit from street sex work in the previous year were not seen returning to street sex work in this period
 - 56 women improved their relationships with their family
 - 86 women increased their motivation to make positive changes in their lives
 - 63 women improved their emotional wellbeing
 - 80 women engaged in more positive relationships with other agencies
 - 59 women made positive steps towards recovery from drug and alcohol addiction
 - 72 women used victim services
 - 139 women have been in stable accommodation
 - 26 women volunteered either at One25 or in the wider community

We have seen a significant increase in the number of women using One25 who are at risk of street sex work (almost double at 46, compared with 24 in the previous year). This dramatic rise reflects increased social needs in the city as a whole and also our closer partnership work, with more referrals coming from the police, hospitals etc.

Financial review

One25 has had a good year financially. Grant income has grown significantly and is building on the success of previous years. Three large grant awards were secured at the start of the financial year, creating a window of opportunity for us to develop other income streams. This has resulted in a more comprehensive strategy for donor work, as well as production of resources for legacy giving.

Donation income has stayed relatively stable, with some growth in regular donations. Income from fundraising events has decreased owing to reduced resource to run fundraising campaigns.

Our debtors and creditors remain relatively low and our cash position has increased, reflecting the growth in our free reserves.

We recognise that the funding environment remains challenging. Income for commissioned services has decreased, which reflects the increased strain on local authority funding. Despite these external challenges we also recognise the need to continue to invest in our infrastructure (in particular our premises) to support future growth and so, following independent advice relating to property maintenance, we have decided to transfer additional funds into the Designated Infrastructure Support Fund.

Investment policy

One25 seeks to maintain the capital value of its assets, maintain liquidity and produce the best financial return within an acceptable level of risk, whilst acting in accordance with its ethical standards.

As One25's asset base is small, capital volatility cannot be tolerated and therefore all investments shall be held in the form of cash. Cash deposits should be split so that no one institution holds all of the charity's total cash balance. All cash balances should be deposited in institutions regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority and the Prudential Regulation Authority.

One25 needs cash to support its day-to-day operations but also holds cash as a result of building free reserves, which may be used to develop new projects or services. Accordingly, some cash must be held in instant access accounts but some can be invested in longer-term investments. To meet day-to-day requirements and allow for uneven cash flow, the equivalent cash value of two typical months' expenditure must be held in instant access accounts. New projects take time to develop so funds may be invested for a fixed term, but no funds must be held in investments that are inaccessible for periods in excess of six months.

The charity manages its own cash deposits. The Finance and Resources Manager monitors the cash position and prospective cash flow and reports this to the Finance subgroup and through them to the Board.

Reserves policy

The trustees have given consideration to appropriate levels of reserves retained for safe financial management and are of the view that One25 should hold between at least three and nine months of running costs as a free reserve.

Reasons for reserves

As employers, we have an obligation to maintain sufficient income to pay our staff. One25's income is prone to fluctuation and is dependent on the generosity of the public, the uncertainties of government funding and the availability of grant funding. Healthy reserves are necessary for One25 to respond to need flexibly, to pilot new areas of work and to maintain and repair One25 premises.

Reserves levels and actions required

If the reserves level is forecast as at or below three months, the SMT will meet to review service and staffing priorities with a view to cuts. At the same time the Fundraising and Communications Manager will review whether further income can be secured, e.g. through a special appeal. One25 will not develop new services, recruit new staff or make any other organisational changes that will incur significant costs to the organisation unless One25 can maintain a minimum level of four months reserves.

With continued careful management we have been able to grow the level of our reserves to £462,510 which has meant that, despite our significantly increased budget for 2017-18 (as we host the innovative Pause Bristol pilot), we have maintained our reserves at the level of five and a half months expenditure. The organisation has strategic objectives for increased services and so we are still aiming to grow our free reserves from the current level to six months of (planned) expenditure; based on the current budget for 2017-18, this level would equate to reserves of £507,150.

Plans for future periods

One25 plans to continue the activities outlined above in forthcoming years, subject to satisfactory funding arrangements.

Funding from the Local Sustainability Fund has enabled us to deliver an organisational change programme with consultancy support. Areas of review have included:

- Organisational restructure to increase senior management capacity
- New IT package for more efficient systems
- Buildings / office accommodation – workspace design
- Information Management Systems / Supporter development
- Administration process re-engineering
- Career progression, banding, payscales

Most areas have now been completed and in the coming year we will complete the review of career progression, banding and payscales (see staff structure and remuneration for more). This organisational change programme means that One25 is in a more robust and sustainable position to face future changes in an evolving landscape of service user needs, funding opportunities and skills availability.

With One25's client database established we are increasingly able to compare data from year to year. This is enabling us to learn about what is working and what is changing, and our reporting is getting more sophisticated with time. Our monitoring and evaluation framework incorporates all our monitoring tools and systems. Increased levels of funding and a more diverse base mean that we need to collate a wide range of monitoring information. We have updated our data collection system and devised a bespoke outcomes star (adapted from the nationally recognised model) for work with our client group. We will continue to improve this in the coming year.

We plan to increase capacity of specialist support at drop-in, following the 59% increase in attendance in the last quarter of the year under review.

One25 has been chosen to host a brand new Pause pilot in Bristol. Funding has been secured through the Department for Education and matched by Bristol City Council in order to deliver an innovative support programme for women who have had more than one child removed from their care. Pause Bristol focuses on the women's needs, aiming to give them a pause from repeated conception and birth in order to address some of the issues that have led to the removal of their children. These issues might include mental health problems, drug / alcohol abuse and domestic or sexual violence. This approach aims to break the cycle of pregnancy and removal and to increase the chances of women keeping subsequent children, and this initial pilot will work with 20 women. It will run between 2017 and 2019 (with five staff) and it is hoped that it will be sustained beyond this period.

We are launching a peer mentoring programme, which aims to help women leave street sex work through the support of other women who have lived experience of the issues that may be affecting them. We are currently advertising for these positions, which will have the added benefit of being hugely rewarding for the peer mentors, who will grow in strength and ability through being able to use their previous experience in supporting others to move on.

We also hope to increase our capacity to assist women who have experienced domestic and sexual violence.

In the coming year One25 will take a lead in setting up a sexual violence conference, supporting and keeping safe women who are victims of sexual violence. This will be modelled on a successful forum already established in Gloucester.

During the year under review we have explored ideas around the continued recovery of women following their exit from street sex work. Following discussion with partners we believe that it would benefit women to have a “move-on” drop in service, which would support their ongoing recovery from drug and alcohol abuse or domestic violence through engagement in group work, employment skills, confidence building etc. Preliminary conversations have begun and we hope to devise a pilot programme of support for these women, if funding can be found.

Structure, Management and Governance

Governing document

One25 is a charitable company limited by guarantee and has charitable status. The charity is governed by its Articles of Association dated 30th April 1997, which were amended 15th October 2001, 18th October 2004, 24th October 2005 and 30th October 2010.

Recruitment and appointment of Trustee Board

On 30 April 2017 the trustee board consists of eleven trustees. A skills audit of the board is conducted regularly and new trustees are recruited as required. A minority proportion of the trustees have current practical involvement in the work of the charity and others are recruited because of their relevant professional skills. New trustees are sometimes co-opted during the year, but are more usually appointed through election at the autumn AGM. Their period of tenure is for three years, after which they may stand for re-election for two further terms, before being required to stand down for at least one year.

Trustee induction and training

After completing a trustee application form potential trustees meet initially with the CEO and/or Chair, after which the board discusses and decides on their possible appointment. Trustee induction consists of a further meeting with the Chair, including a tour of the premises and introductions to any staff present, plus an information package including the Articles of Association, annual report and accounts and Charity Commission booklets describing the duties and responsibilities of a trustee. New trustees each receive a mentor for their first year and other induction arrangements, such as visits or shadowing, are made in line with the particular interests of the new trustee. Information on governance training opportunities is circulated periodically to all trustees. A full board self-appraisal was carried out with an external facilitator in April 2016.

Staff structure and remuneration

The team (end of April 2017) consisted of 25 members of staff (three on maternity leave). In June 2017 this was increased by a further five staff, with the launch of Pause Bristol.

Funding from the Local Sustainability Fund enabled One25 to restructure in the year under review. Following our PQASSO assessment (awarded in June 2015) it became apparent that the CEO post was both operational and strategic, a common issue for CEOs in small organisations. As the organisation had grown there was a need to increase the senior management capacity, and so One25 appointed a new Operations Manager. The CEO oversees all of One25's work and now heads a Senior Management Team of five (Operations Manager, Finance and Resources Manager, Services Manager, Fundraising & Communications Manager and Pause Lead) and is released to work strategically, setting up the new Pause Bristol and representing One25 across the city in various relevant forums.

The Operations Manager line manages the Services Manager and Drop-in Coordinator. The Finance and Resources Manager line manages three administrators. The Fundraising and Communications Manager line manages two fundraisers and one new Communications Officer (appointed to increase our influence and profile and supporting the work of fundraising events and applications to funders, locally and nationally). The Services Manager line manages seven frontline workers and the Drop-in Coordinator line manages the Drop-in Support Worker and the Services Assistant. The Pause Bristol Lead line manages three practitioners and one coordinator.

All job roles are assessed against One25's competency matrix by the CEO and their salary is set accordingly. The CEO's remuneration is assessed and reviewed by the Board of Trustees, who also approve any cost of living pay awards. As the organisation has changed and grown we need to ensure that our salaries are competitive in order to retain and attract a high quality staff team, and also that our employment terms are consistent and reflect the responsibilities in the new roles we have created. One25 is currently reviewing salaries through considered research into equivalent roles, and also reviewing roles to ensure that what was outlined last year is the way the role is being applied practically. We are also surveying staff to determine what they value from our current package of salary, TOIL, annual leave, pension, flexible working and other benefits. We hope to finish this process in the autumn of 2017.

We will continue to review our new structure to ensure it is the best to deliver our current outcomes and goals for the coming years.

Volunteer support

One25 has an enthusiastic team of around 120 volunteers who assist in all aspects of the work, with the highest number supporting outreach and drop-in activities. The Volunteer Manager has worked hard to continue to develop and strengthen volunteering at One25.

We hold introductory evenings for volunteers three times a year, following which prospective volunteers are invited to complete an application form. We hold three volunteer induction training days for new volunteers.

We offer a rolling training programme, which in the last year included Safeguarding, Housing and Criminal Justice. We ensure that all volunteers are fully supported and supervised.

There are ongoing plans to set up a volunteer area within our website.

Risk management

The senior management team regularly reviews the risks to which the charity is exposed and records these, along with systems and procedures put in place to mitigate them, on a risk register. This risk register is shared with the board. The senior management team highlights what they believe to be the current top ten risks ahead of each trustee meeting. This allows the board to focus their attention on the most relevant and strategic risks, whilst maintaining an overview of all identified risks facing the organisation.

Significant Risks

The trustees have identified that the most significant current risks to the organisation are:

1. One25's financial sustainability beyond 2017-18. In order to manage this risk the Senior Management Team and Board receive regular financial information, and so can monitor One25s performance in line with budgets and One25's income generation strategy.
2. One25 does not deliver to commitments made to funders and funding is discontinued and/or One25's reputation suffers, affecting future contracting and engagement possibilities. In order to manage this risk One25 holds regular review meetings to ensure that commitments are met and continuous improvements are made, and so good relationships with all funders and partners are maintained.
3. Changes to the board (including a new Chair in November 2017) could limit their effectiveness to change and lead the organisation. In order to manage this risk One25 has a robust induction for all new trustees, and One25's CEO will ensure a three-month handover plan for the current and future chair. The senior management team and board will continuously review skills of board members and board recruitment.

Organisational structure

One25's trustees meet on a quarterly basis, including one trustee away day and an additional away day with the staff and trustees together. These days allow time for fuller discussion of strategic development or other important issues, as the need arises. Most trustees attend at least one of four trustee subgroups relating to Finance, HR, Safeguarding and Impact. Subgroups meet either bimonthly or quarterly. The CEO and other senior staff members submit written reports and attend all board meetings. Decisions are made through voting by trustees only, with due regard to the constitutional requirement for a quorum. Once the board has agreed overall strategic priorities, the business plan and operational decisions are delegated to the CEO. The CEO is held to account through regular reports to the board on progress with the plan and through one-to-one meetings with the Chair, where the CEO's objectives are set and reviewed.

Partnership Working

Working in partnership is essential to the success of our work and we seek active partnerships to deliver contracts. We continue to build our partnership work across the sector and are finding that this is becoming increasingly built into funding structures. For example, Bristol City Council have restructured their approach to grant funding for charities with an increased focus on partnership work. In line with this we are developing a working relationship with ISAVVIE, to ensure that we do not duplicate work and that we are supporting women who may move between the two services in the best way.

One25 continues to maintain relationships with a large number of statutory, commercial and voluntary organisations. We have existing contracts with St Mungo's (Assertive Contact and Engagement Service), Second Step (Golden Key) and Safer Bristol (Street Sex Work Project).

We continue to input into a number of local strategy groups, such as the Rough Sleeping Partnership Group, which have links with Bristol City Council to tackle homelessness issues and to raise awareness of women's needs.

Responsibilities of the trustees

The trustees (who are also directors of One25 Limited for the purposes of company law) are responsible for preparing the Trustees' Report and the Financial Statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Accounting Standards (United Kingdom Generally Accepted Accounting Practice).

Company law requires the trustees to prepare financial statements for each financial year, which give a true and fair view of the state of the affairs of the charitable company as at the balance sheet date and of its incoming resources and application of resources, including income and expenditure, for the financial year. In preparing those financial statements the trustee board should follow best practice and:

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently
- Observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent
- State whether applicable UK Accounting Standards have been followed, subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis, unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charitable company will continue in business

The trustees are responsible for keeping proper accounting records that disclose with reasonable accuracy, at any time, the financial position of the charitable company and enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charitable company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Members of the trustee board

Members of the trustees, who are directors for the purpose of company law and trustees for the purpose of charity law, who served during the year and up to the date of this report are set out on page 1.

I report on the accounts of One25 Limited for the year ended 30 April 2017, which are set out on pages 19 to 30.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner

The trustees (who are also the directors of the company for the purposes of company law) are responsible for the preparation of the accounts. The charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year under section 144(2) of the Charities Act 2011 (the 2011 Act) and that an independent examination is needed. The charity's gross income exceeded £250,000 and I am qualified to undertake the examination by being a qualified member of Association of Chartered Certified Accountants.

Having satisfied myself that the charity is not subject to audit under Part 16 of the Companies Act 2006 and is eligible for independent examination, it is my responsibility to:

- examine the accounts under section 145 of the 2011 Act;
- to follow the procedures laid down in the General Directions given by the Charity Commission under section 145(5)(b) of the 2011 Act; and
- to state whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's report

My examination was carried out in accordance with the General Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and the seeking of explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit and, consequently, no opinion is given as to whether the accounts present a 'true and fair view' and the report is limited to those matters set out in the statement below.

Independent examiner's statement

In connection with my examination, no matter has come to my attention:

- which gives me reasonable cause to believe that, in any material respect, the requirements:
 - (a) to keep accounting records in accordance with section 386 of the Companies Act 2006, and
 - (b) to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records, comply with the accounting requirements of the Companies Act 2006 and with the methods and principles of the Statement of Recommended Practice: Accounting and Reporting by Charities (revised 2015)

have not been met, or

1 Accounting policies

- a) The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts in accordance with Financial Reporting Standard 102 and the Companies Act 2006. Assets and liabilities are initially recognised at historical cost or transaction value unless otherwise stated in the relevant accounting policy note(s). The accounts have been prepared on the going concern basis, and there are no material uncertainties affecting the charity's ability to continue as such.
- b) The charity is a public benefit entity.
- c) Income from donations is included in income when it is receivable, except as follows:
 - I. When donors specify that donations given to the charity must be used in future accounting periods, the income is deferred until those periods;
 - II. When donors impose conditions which have to be fulfilled before the charity becomes entitled to use such income, the income is deferred until the pre-conditions have been met.
- d) Grants, including grants for the purchase of fixed assets, are recognised in full in the Statement of Financial Activities in the year in which they are receivable. Grants received in the accounting period in respect of future accounting periods are deferred until those periods. All material grants are disclosed in accordance with the Statement of Recommended Practice.
- e) Expenditure is recognised in the period in which it is incurred. It includes attributable VAT which cannot be recovered.
- f) Gifts in kind donated for distribution are included at valuation and recognised as income when they are distributed to the projects. Gifts donated for resale are included as income when they are sold. Donated facilities are included at the value to the charity where this can be quantified and a third party bearing the cost. No amounts are included in the financial statements for services donated by volunteers.

- j) Grants payable are charged in the year when the offer is conveyed to the recipient except in those cases where the offer is conditional, such grants being recognised when the conditions attaching are fulfilled. Grants offered subject to conditions which have not been met at the year end are noted as a commitment, but not accrued as expenditure.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

k) Depreciation is calculated so as to write off the cost of an asset, less its estimated residual value, over the useful life of that asset as follows:

Equipment	25% per annum reducing balance
Furniture and fittings	25% per annum reducing balance
Motor vehicles	25% per annum reducing balance

No depreciation is provided on freehold property as the trustees are of the opinion that the property is maintained to a sufficiently high standard that no diminution in the value has taken place.

Fixed assets under £1,000 are written off in the year of acquisition.

- l) Stock consists of purchased goods for resale. Stocks are valued at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Items donated for resale or distribution are not included in the financial statements until they are sold or distributed.
- m) The charity has arranged a defined contribution scheme for its staff. Pension costs charged in the SOFA represent the contributions payable by the charity in the period.
- n) Assets held under hire purchase agreements are capitalised and disclosed under tangible fixed assets at their fair value. The capital element of the future payments is treated as a liability and the interest is charged to the profit and loss account on a straight line basis.
- o) Rentals applicable to operating leases where substantially all of the benefits and risks of ownership remain with the lessor are charged against profits on a straight line basis over the period of the lease.
- p) Unrestricted funds can be used in accordance with the charitable objects at the discretion of the Trustees.
- q) Restricted funds can only be used for particular restricted purposes within the objects of the charity. Restrictions arise when specified by the donor or when funds raised for particular restricted purposes. Expenditure which meets these criteria is charged to the fund, together with a fair allocation of management and support costs. Further explanation of the nature and purpose of each fund is included in the notes to the financial statements.
