

Donor Fundraiser

Do you want to help women build new lives away from violence, poverty and addiction? If you do, join our small charity with a huge ambition to reach out to women who are trapped in or vulnerable to street sex work in Bristol.

One25 has an exciting opportunity for a fundraiser with a proven track record of success who is seeking to develop their skills. We're looking for a team player who is proactive, has drive and ambition, is an excellent communicator and is analytical and organised with good attention to detail. Above all, you will be excited about developing relationships with and inspiring our donors and supporters.

The main responsibility of this role is to develop One25's individual giving programme, across major donors, individual gifts, regular donations and legacies. The successful candidate will have experience in individual fundraising, either fundraising from individual donors, developing donor appeals or fundraising from major donors. Additionally, as One25's valued fundraising and communications team is small, innovative and dynamic you will also input into other areas of work which may include: events, communications and the use of social media.

The successful post holder will report to One25's Fundraising and Communications Manager. One25 is an award-winning, registered charity (No.1062391) with a Christian ethos, providing services for women trapped in street sex work. We are based in St Pauls in Bristol.
